- Improve knowledge on indications of Laparoscopic Surgery and its practical application.
- Techniques of maintenance and sterilization of laparoscopic instruments.
- Raise awareness of specificities of laparoscopic surgery.
- Improve knowledge of laparoscopic equipment, new technologies and how to use them.
- Identify the role of the nurse within the medical staff in order to improve the knowledge and skill of Minimal Access Surgery.
- Knowledge of minimizing laparoscopic complications.
- Knowledge of laparoscopic post-operative care.
- Knowledge of laparoscopic pre-operative preparation.

Course Description :

A team approach by all surgical team members is essential for providing a positive outcome for Laparoscopic Surgery. Success and positive outcomes are closely linked to the training and experience of the surgical team. A basic understanding of the anatomy and physiology of the surgical approach provides all team members with guidelines as to the expectations of the surgeon and desired outcome. This knowledge is essential in providing decisions around positioning and plan of care. This program can help the participants anticipate potential complications so they can be responded to in a more efficient manner.
